This indicator measures the effectiveness of agriculture support services. The indicator will account for command areas cultivating newer crops than the traditional ones, including high-value crops like vegetables, flowers, fruits, and other horticulture crops. The command area that benefitted from phase I and II schemes will be considered.

Comments:	This indicator measures resilience efforts for catchment management and shifting from risky seasonal crops to tree and plantation crops as mitigation against climate uncertainties. The indicator will account for command areas brought under cultivation of mixed fruit plantation and other tree crops, especially on the fringes of WDS and other water harvesting structures and catchment areas.
